

Strap Helps Child Crawl (Back Washer)

A strap that was manufactured as a backwasher with handles on each end was used to help a child crawl. This child was moving his legs in an attempt to crawl, but his arms were not quite strong enough to bear his weight. The strap was placed around the child's chest to hold the upper body above ground in order to facilitate crawling.

Idea submitted by: Hope Lewis, Florida

For more information: hopelewis@hotmail.com